

NEW ENGLAND COURTESY BENEFIT BY NEW CODE

6 O'CLOCK LAW GIVES TO 30,000 Lumber and Clothing Industry Await Capital Action

Nearly 30,000 workers in New England will be benefited by the adoption of the proposed national recovery codes covering lumber, timber, and the coat and suit division of women's apparel, the New England Council announced today.

These codes have now reached the hearing stage at Washington, and lumber and clothing account for approximately 30,000 workers, and the coat and suit industry for over 20,000 in this section, the council stated.

The New England Council also lauded the cotton textile code, asserting it would have a far-reaching effect on the New England industrial system, affecting more than one out of every 10 industrial workers here.

6 O'CLOCK LAIDS

More than 100 residents of Marlborough have obtained work with the opening of a shoe factory and a second mill plant.

Employment of the first of the 30,000 persons who are expected to regain employment in the textile mills of Massachusetts began today under the new law which permits hiring women for work after 6 p. m.

While the employment of new help is expected to be slow at the start, the entire number will be on the payroll within a few weeks, officials said.

15,000 USED AT MILLS

Elliott H. Hood, of Salem, president of the National Cotton Manufacturers' Association, reported that 15,000 workers will be hired in cotton mills alone.

The bill which revoked the six o'clock law for women workers was signed Saturday by Governor Ely. Textile plants began immediately to prepare for the hiring of additional help to care for the large number of orders on hand.

Several mills at Lowell began hiring women for the evening shift today, their working hours in most cases to be from 3 to 11 p. m.

Edwin S. Smith, commissioner of the State Department of Labor and Industries, said that no mill will be permitted to employ women night until he has been notified in writing that the law has been made to employ men for the "after hour" shift.

Under the new regulation, women may be employed until 10 p. m., beginning the shift at 2 p. m.

ATTACKS JUDGES

"The suspension of the so-called 6 o'clock law," said Commissioner Smith, "may be regarded by the community as a labor in respect to any concern coming under the jurisdiction of the law."

Two judges of district courts were flayed by Commissioner Smith for their handling of cases of employers over-working employees. He said the decisions in the cases were "a shock and a surprise."

The great majority of judges, Smith continued, "in the Commonwealth, co-operate with the Department of Labor in the enforcement of the labor laws."

Look Out! Johnson

Washington, July 24 (INS)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, "has discovered a new way to relax."

He takes his business for a "ride."

Whenever he gets hot and bothered he takes his call, leads them into his car and continues his conference as he rolls around the Potomac river speedway.

Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret E. O'Hanley, wife of John A. O'Hanley and for 44 years a resident of Brookline, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. Columba's church.

Following services at the home, 14 Beacon st., Brookline, there will be a solemn requiem high mass in St. Lawrence church, Brookline.

Mrs. O'Hanley was the mother of 10 children, eight of whom are living.

200 Printers Get

Commercial jobs Two hundred commercial printers will be admitted to Boston Typographical Union No. 13 under a waiver of the rules necessitated by increased business.

The local at a meeting in Ford Hall agreed to waive the laws dealing with acceptance for membership for three months. Reports showed that large commercial plants have made an unprecedented demand for application blanks.

Drowned as Boat Tips

Worcester, July 24.—Matthew Krasneky, 36, of Hardwick was drowned in Lake Umbagog yesterday afternoon when the boat in which he was rowing with other bathers tipped over.

New Wife for Doug? 'Great Idea,' He Says

DOUG FAIRBANKS, JR.

Gertrude Lawrence, British Star, May Follow Joan

London, July 24 (INS)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., American motion picture star, arrived in London today with wide smiles to greet interviewers who questioned him regarding rumors of an impending engagement to a British actress.

He came from Southampton, where he had spent several days as the guest of Miss Gertrude Lawrence of the London stage. Miss Lawrence was with him.

Both declined to commit themselves outright, but Fairbanks smiled.

"It's a good idea," Miss Lawrence nodded assent. "Friends for several days have been discussing the possibility of the two of them being married."

Young Fairbanks recently was divorced from Joan Crawford, also of the Hollywood film colony.

STAGE STAR MAY BE NEXT BRIDE

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., whose life was recently spared in a critical illness in New York, said it would be great to be engaged to Gertrude Lawrence, British star. He's in London now, and they're much together.

At the last meeting of the aldermen's committee, the members stood 8 to 2 against approving the recommendation, but the mass meeting it is reported that a sufficient number of votes had been mustered by Mayor Burke to easily pass the recommendation.

EPIDEMIC FEAR AS FOUR DIE

Worcester, July 24.—Health officials here were today issuing warnings in the hope that a threatened epidemic of infantile paralysis would be checked. So far, four persons have died from the dread malady.

Two young men succumbed last night in City Hospital from the disease, and a third is critically ill. Herbert Speak, 28, of 684 Southbridge st., a machinist, and Victor B. Joyner, of Pearl st., were the men who died. Ekoi Hariz, of this city, is critically ill.

Dr. Peter O. Shea, of the health department, said he has asked state officials for support to combat the disease, and is issuing warnings to residents.

Fire Alarm Pulled

Myer Fox of 207 Norfolk st., Dorchester, was dead today after the valiant efforts of a doctor, his wife and an oxygen tank brought by a fire engine failed to pull him through a crisis in his illness.

Dr. Irving Gittelman of 247 Norfolk st. was attending the sick man when he became apparent that more aid was needed. Mrs. Rose Gittelman, the doctor's wife, rushed out and sounded a fire box which brought several pieces of apparatus. Requesting the tank of oxygen, Mrs. Gittelman led the firemen to Fox's home. The patient rallied for a short time, but then sank into a coma and died.

DRAG RIVER FOR TWO WEEKS FOR BOY'S BODY

The Charles River Basin, between the West Boston bridge and the viaduct, was being dragged today by Boston and Metropolitan police for the body of boy-aided Le-natus Savi of 17 Minot st., West End, who disappeared from home yesterday.

The boy's mother asked police of the City of Boston to search for her son when he failed to return home for supper last evening. A thorough search of railroad yards, alleys and deserted buildings failed to reveal any trace of the boy.

He was last seen playing on the esplanade embankment, giving rise to the belief that he fell into the water and was drowned.

Ipswich Death Mystery Reopened

Evidence gathered by State Detective William F. Murray, which strongly points to foul play in the death of Mrs. Madeline Gautreaux, tourist camp operator in Ipswich, today caused the examination of the body for an autopsy.

Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Gregg, of Essex County, went yesterday to the examining reports submitted by Dr. George Burgess Megaw, who had no comment to make, it was learned that circumstances surrounding the death of the aged woman are most mysterious.

State Detective Murray revealed that Mrs. Omer Provost of Cedar Grove st., New Bedford, a sister of the woman who died last January 6, has been carrying on a correspondence with some persons representing themselves to be Mrs. Gautreaux.

July 10 to Mrs. Provost was notified of her sister's death, she told the state detective. She then after she had written her dead sister, saying she expected to pay her a visit.

Dist. Atty. Gregg announced that Dr. George Burgess Megaw would perform the autopsy on the body, bathing in Lake Champlain.

MYSTERY GIRL, SKULL BROKEN, FACES GRILL

Police Believe a Man

Hurled Her From an

Auto in Newton

To the belief one can identify her assailant, Newton police announced today, they would question Miss Pearl Shidke, in the Newton hospital, as soon as she recovers from a slight fracture of the skull.

She was found unconscious on Needham st., Newton Upper Falls, Saturday night. She said she was known also as Mrs. Helen Davies, of Wyoming, Pa., but had been using her maiden name since separating from her husband three years ago.

Police said they believed she had been living in Newton several weeks and that she was hurled from an automobile.

She refused to say where she lived. She went for a ride with a strange man in Providence, R. I., but did not remember anything after reaching Newton, she said.

MEDFORD TAX

PLAN FOUGHT

Opponents of Mayor John H. Burke, of Medford, will make a final stand to block his effort at tax reduction tonight when the aldermen have been called in to a special session to pass upon recommendations made by the mayor before his departure for the West on a vacation.

Failing to secure opposition at a "meeting" of Medford voters, Burke's supporters will try to get the city charter, where the gathering would nearly three to one for the mayor's recommendation, in position to centering its efforts in a referendum vote to oppose the recommendation for authority to borrow $250,000 from the state bond issue.

At the last meeting of the aldermen, it was understood that the members stood 8 to 2 against approving the recommendation, but the mass meeting it is reported that a sufficient number of votes had been mustered by Mayor Burke to easily pass the recommendation.

MARRIAGE LAW SILENT BY ROOSEVELT

Son of President Says

He Is "Not Interested"

Fort Worth, July 24.—Elliott Roosevelt has declared he was "not interested" in the possibility he would incur the displeasure of the Episcopal Church for his marriage to Ruth Josephine Goggins after a Nevada divorce.

"I am not interested in anything," the son of the President declared as he arrived here with his bride for a four-day visit at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. D. Goggins.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of Chicago, commenting on the marriage of Roosevelt and Miss Goggins at Burlington, Ia., said Episcopal Church law provides for suspension from communion of a divorced person who remarries.

Talking with well wishers at the door of his compartment here, Roosevelt said "we plan to spend a few days at Ruth's home and then go on to the coast."

TWO AUTO CRASHES

Two auto accidents in Somerville

yesterday injured nine persons, four of them children, including two sisters.

Two cars collided at School and Medford sts., injuring eight of the nine hurt in the crash during the day. The ninth was hurt when his car smashed into a zone post and a building, bounced off, and then struck a car.

Francis P. McGrath, of Third st., Medford, driver of one of the cars, and the twins, Louise and Ella McGrath, were shaken up. Thomas McGrath, 12, was seriously injured. Paul F. McCormack, of Everett ave., Somerville, was driving the machine.

Frank L. Tibbets, of Magnolia st., Arlington, drove into the zone post in Broadway, skidded away, and came to rest against a tree, 200 feet west. He was thrown clear of the car and knocked unconscious.

ESKIMOS Ring Round for Glimpse of Lindy and Wife

Godthaab, Greenland, July 24 (AP)—Eskimos, to whom Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is as much a hero as he is to admirers of his aeronautical feats, in two remote parts of the world are traveling to Godthaab from great distances to get a glimpse of the American flier and his wife, who arrived Saturday for a midday meal.

They are making air maps of this northern region.

Day and night the Lindbergh plane is surrounded by a sizeable armada of Eskimo kayaks, or canoes. The Eskimos do not approach close, merely gazing and staring in wonderment and admiration.

ELLIOTT AND HIS NEW WIFE

First Clue TO

CONVICT WHO

FLED TRAIN

An Autoist Believes He

Gave McCarthy a

"Lift" to N. Y.

First clue to the whereabouts of John J. Altes, Frank McCarthy, 26, of Freeport, N. Y., reported to Belmont police that he was certain he had given McCarthy a "lift" in the Pickman car yesterday.

Indicating that McCarthy may have gone back to New York, where he was captured last week, came when Malcolm Pickman of 45 Cherry pl., Newton, reported to Belmont police that he was certain he had given McCarthy a "lift" in the Pickman car yesterday.

Pickman, according to a type message to Boston, said he gave a man answering McCarthy's description a ride from Arlington to Waltham an hour and a half after McCarthy fled his captors on a New York train pulling into Back Bay station. The hitchhiker said he was on his way to Springfield.

A previous police theory that McCarthy, who fled New Hampshire state prison in Concord nearly two weeks ago, may have been met by a friendly automobile outside Back Bay station and whisked away.

Setting on a tip, State police of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut are seeking an expensive automobile, believed to be owned by a close relative of the fugitive and in which McCarthy was placed as a passenger according to information received by Inspector William J. Goudreau of the Boston police.

Whitewing Goes as Balbo Wins Honors

New York, July 24 (AP)—Mr. Smythe learned on his broom today and dreamed of his big moment.

Barrington, Vt., July 24.—Mrs. Catherine Goodwin Balbo, 35, of Detroit, Mich., drowned here while bathing in a pond.

LOS ANGELES, JULY 24 (AP)—

Los Angeles, July 24 (AP)—Divorce or no divorce, Almes Sempie McPherson-Hutton is going to make a triumphant return to the scene of her spectacular endeavor. Angelus Temple.

Her "flock" of thousands today awaited her arrival Friday or Saturday with the same excited expectancy it always has greeted her homecoming after a jaunt to foreign lands. In token of their enthusiasm 50 paraded yesterday behind a blaring band.

It was to demonstrate their faith in her, they said—an appropriation of an idea which Almes's husband, David L. Hutton, Jr., used for a song he dedicated to her in the early days of their marriage.

"We're behind you, sister," cried the 500.

Mrs. McPherson-Hutton will disembark from the liner City of Haver at Baltimore.

Hutton continued to do his three-day at Long Beach shore with out further comment on the divorce suit he filed week ago.

England Protest

Nazi Aerial Policy

Berlin, July 24 (INS)—The first rift in amicable relations between Germany and Great Britain occurred today.

R. C. Newton, British charge d'affaires, called at the foreign office and lodged a protest against the announced intention of the Hitler government to establish an aerial police force. Newton said that the British government had a treaty of Paris.

Fights to Get "Most Beautiful Child"

New York, July 23 (INS)—Victorians in his suit in this city, his wife, Pamela, and his children, British portrait painter, were prepared for the best suit to obtain custody of his 12-year-old daughter Lily, called by Queen Mary "the most beautiful child in England."

It is decreed Mrs. Ghandor was forbidden to remarry during the painter's lifetime.

LOSING SIGHT, ASKS VIEW OF CHEVALIER

Lincoln, Neb., July 24.—To seal within her soul the face of Maurice Chevalier before the hand of blindness shuts out sight forever was the one boon Blanche Cameron sought when specialists told her science could not save her eyes.

In a letter beautiful and Biblical in its simplicity, Blanche Cameron asked Chevalier himself to grant that boon which would make the coming years of darkness bright. She asked him to make one more picture "that the memory of you will always be the same. So that you will never grow old."

HOLDS PROMISE

And today in one of the few "fan" letters Chevalier has ever personally answered Blanche Cameron holds the screen star's promise that he is now engaged in making a picture titled, strangely enough, "The Way to Love."

In her modest flat in North 18th st., Blanche Cameron sits for hours each day reading and re-reading Chevalier's letter and praying that her sight may not vanish before she has a chance to see Chevalier's latest picture.

The sight of one eye is now almost gone. Soon, like twilight blending into blackness, the world will be hidden from her. She prays that darkness will not come until she has had her last glimpse of him that means perpetual light.

REPRESENTS IDEAL

It is no simpering schoolgirl who wrote the letter to Chevalier. Blanche has seen much of life. Much that is sorrowful. Nor is she infatuated with the screen idol. It is simply that Chevalier represents to Blanche an ideal. Someone, perhaps, she hoped she might meet when she indulged in girlish dreams.

"Mine is not a silly, girlish infatuation. I am as old as Maurice himself. I sit, trying to imagine how it would be, really to sit in the same room with him, to talk to him."

"I don't think Maurice is handsome. I know he was poor in Paris as a youngster. I believe he is a very real man. I believe that if he made love to me, well . . ."

MAKES FOR BRAVERY
"Please don't misunderstand me. I am not enamored of him in that way. I think the attraction is spiritual. Anyway, it enables me to face my blindness bravely. At times, I am almost glad I am going blind. Otherwise, I would go on seeing Chevalier. He would grow older. I want to remember him as young and happy . . ."

When Dr. Stanley G. Zemer of Lincoln told Blanche several months ago that she was hopelessly doomed to blindness, she sat down and wrote the following letter to Chevalier, who was then in Paris.

"Dear Mr. Chevalier: Please, Mr. Chevalier, will you come back to America and make another picture. I have a special reason for my request. The doctor told me that in six months I will be totally blind."

"Before then, I want to see you one last time upon the screen—me compensating thought that the memory I carry of you will always be the same, Maurice."

"You will never grow old."

CHEVALIER'S REPLY
The letter finally caught up with Chevalier at Hollywood, and he sent the following reply:

"My dear Miss Cameron: Your letter to me has traveled far and has at last caught up with me at the Hollywood Studios where we are busy preparing for our newest picture, 'The Way to Love.'"

"I am happy if I have been able to give you some joy in this life—it is not the easiest thing to find. I do want to say to you that though we have some great men of medicine in this world of ours, they are many times wrong. It is very hard to judge always correctly. Let us hope that in your case they are wrong very much."

"Thank you for putting some joy in my life with your so nice letter. Maybe, as you Americans say, we ourselves even for our failures somehow."

And to Blanche Cameron waits. Ready to laugh at blindness if only she can carry into the darkness with her, one last picture of her idol.

3 Injured as Storm Strikes World Fair

Chicago, July 24.—Lake squalls engulfed several sail boats and caused at least one drowning here as a sudden shift of wind brought rain and relief from excessive heat.

Coast guardsmen rescued nine persons who were aboard toppled water craft. A sand storm, kicked up by the swirling wind, struck the world's fair grounds. Three injuries were reported.

Fear Missing Co-Ed on Way to Europe

Montreal, July 24.—While police are still trying to trace Miss Natalie Carr of Clinton, Conn., they expressed the opinion the girl boarded a liner for Europe. The 19-year-old vassar college junior disappeared from her grandparents' home July 13 and Montreal police were asked to aid in the search.

AUTO CODE PLEA BY ROOSEVELT

Lives should be preserved on the highways of this State through a conservation corps, and a code for motorists should be promulgated, James Roosevelt, son of the President, said today in a statement issued through the Governor's committee on street and highway safety.

He suggested that the motor vehicle problem could be attacked by some of the dictatorial authority now being applied in other fields.

Police in Springfield and Worcester were commended by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Morgan T. Ryan when he revealed that no one was killed in either city during the past week than in the corresponding week last year. Ryan said, and 144 licenses and registrations were suspended or revoked. Of these, 45 were for driving under the influence, and 790 resulted from insurance cancellations.

Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, wrecked by a car driven, police say, by Raymond H. Elkins, 44, of Huntington ave. rd., Arlington. His companion, Miss Virginia Hasky, 28, of Lakeview ave., Cambridge and Elkins were both injured, necessitating hospital treatment.

A third crash, not a safety buster, however, will bring charges of drunken driving and using a machine without authority against Robert Banks, 43, of Washburn ave., Cambridge. Banks' machine crashed into a tree on Memorial drive.

RECORD CROWDS MASKED GANG VISIT BEACHES GET $44,000

High humidity, coupled with fairly hot temperature, drove more than 50,000 persons to Beverly, Nantasket and other beaches, yesterday, to escape the general stifling and obtain relief in the cool water of the ocean.

Police of the Metropolitan station at Beverly Beach estimated that 275,000 persons jammed their way onto the sands or into the water during the day. A record was established at Nantasket when more than 250,000 people sought relief. Reaching a high point of $5 at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, some relief was accorded residents during the early afternoon.

SOLDIER'S BODY CAPTURED TRIO FOUND IN SEA ADMIT BREAKS

Portland, Me., July 24.—Police and army officials from Fort McKinley were investigating the finding of a soldier's body in the water off Little Diamond Island early today. Foot was taken, when brasses were discovered on the body.

Residents of Great Diamond Island and its neighbor, Little Diamond, reported to police last night that they heard cries for help around midnight. Patrolman Walter M. Senter, of the Portland police, who is spending the summer at Little Diamond, made a search, but failed to find the body until "after daylight."

A check-up of members of C Company was being made at Fort McKinley in an "effort to identify the body."

Summer residents on both islands reported to police that they heard a man's voice crying "I am being killed. They are getting me. Save me, for God's sake," coming from the direction of Little Diamond shortly before midnight.

Three youthful gunmen, who carried on a career of holdups to get enough money so that they could visit the World's Fair in Chicago, faced arraignment in municipal court today on nine counts of robbery.

The trio, captured near Edward Everett sq., confessed according to the police that they had performed nine robberies during their short and barely profitable tour of crime. Those held are George Houlihan, 18, of Cabot st., Roxbury; Walter F. McKernan, 18, of 88 Vernon st., Roxbury; and James F. Berger, 18, of Cabot st., Roxbury.

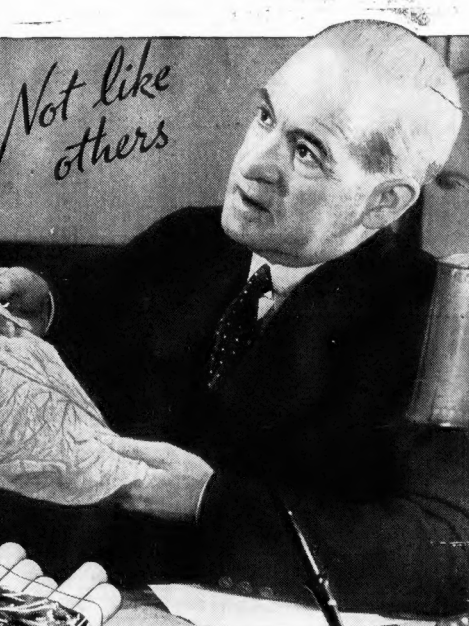

Capture of the youths was made after two of them had allegedly held up a store at 712 Harrison ave., South End. As they fled from the store, with the third youth at the steering wheel of a car, John Brady and his wife, Eleanor, 59 West Brookline st., South End, and George Pierce, of 280 State st., nut ave., gave chase. The machine containing the trio was stalled in traffic in Edward Everett sq., and Traffic Officer Leo Cushing summoned by Brady, arrested the youths.

"If you're right—
the kind of tobacco Chesterfield uses makes a milder cigarette"

"IF YOU WATCH
a Chesterfield buyer at an auction sale down South, you'll notice he will bid on only mild, thoroughly ripe tobacco. It's filled with Southern sunshine and has a bright color that seems to smile right back at you.

"Then, the Chesterfield people seem to know about blending and cross-blending tobaccos—welding them together—to give a more pleasing taste and aroma. And they know how to season our Southern tobaccos with just enough aromatic Turkish.

"Down in the tobacco country where I come from, Chesterfield is usually the leading seller. You're right about it. Chesterfields are not like other cigarettes. They are milder . . . they taste better . . . they satisfy."

Reporters' Shirts Louden's Jurons

Salem Courthouse, July 24—Sizzling heat brought about a shirtless scene again today in the Costello murder trial—but the defendant, Jessie Costello, seemingly unaffected by the heat, wore the same black dress she had on all that week.

All but one of the 13 jurors, in shirt-sleeves, but the display of varied hues in the shirtings and neckties of the perspiring reporters made the scene a sight to see on the jurors so far as color went.

Costello had with Mrs. Costello, that he could recall.

Q—You had one other talk? A—Yes, I did.

Q—You didn't say anything about that? A—That is not admissible, Mr. Clark.

Q—I didn't ask you that. You know he is a proper answer. His Honor will decide about that. You went to Salem jail? A—Yes.

Q—You knew she had a child? A—Yes.

Q—You were arranged for a talk with her? A—Yes.

Q—You went in first and arranged for Murray and Edward McMahon to follow you? A—Yes.

Q—Did she have some more talk? A—She said her husband was lying on his back with his hands outstretched when she found him.

It All Only Makes Widow Smile More

Atty. Green said he was through with his direct examination and a conference was called in the hall.

During the conference Mrs. Costello turned and talked with Mrs. Craig, the matron. The defendant's lips moved rapidly and several times she smiled as she talked.

Following the conference, Atty. Green again took up his questioning.

Q—Did you see Mrs. Costello after that? A—Yes, she said she saw her on March 17. She was in bed. Chief Justice and William Murray, the defense counsel were there.

Q—What else? A—I said, "Mrs. Costello, the evidence concerning your husband's death has been presented to the grand jury. I have a request for your aid. I will have to take you to the Salem jail or the Plymouth police station. I will have your choice, but it must be one or the other."

Q—What else? A—O'Brien told her she would have to go. I said, "There are several newspaper photographers outside. They are anxious to get pictures. No matter what you do they will get them. I'd advise her to pose. She said all right. I'll pose."

Q—Go on. A—She went down to the front porch. She came down in about 15 minutes. She stood on the porch and posed for the photographers. Then she got into my car and we drove to Salem jail.

Atty. Clark objected to the testimony. The judge asked Green if it was complete. The answer was in the negative.

It is not completed yet," Judge Foulke said. "It, when it is finished, is inadmissible. I shall rule it out."

Q—By Green—was the little boy downstairs? A—Yes, sir.

Had Another Talk
With Her in Jail

Q—Did she talk to him or do anything to him before he went out? A—No, sir. Not from the time I went in until I left.

"Now, I object," said Clark rising.

"Find out, Mr. Green, if it was little boy. At present it might be any little boy," said the judge.

Q—Was there any other boy there? A—No, sir.

Green said that Griffin subsequently learned the boy was Mrs. Costello's and that Griffin saw a picture of the boy. Atty. Clark objected strenuously.

"I think the more sensible way to treat this," said the judge, "is to let it stay in and if it isn't proper, subsequently we will strike it out."

Atty. Clark took the witness on cross-examination. In answer to the attorney's question, Griffin said he had not omitted a conversation

TO BARE WIDOW'S SECRETS AT DEATH TRIAL Widow's Fate Forgotten -- As Jurors Make Merry by Sea JONES, BRIE MILL WORKERS ON HONEYMOON TO REORGANIZE

The twelve men who hold in their hands the fate of Mrs. Jessie Costello forgot for a day all about poisons and murders and love as they, with court bailiffs attending, made merry on the rocks at Bourne yesterday. They watched the ships pass in the distance, told stories, feasted and had a good time generally. Today they are back, coatless, hearing state detectives reveal dramatic episodes on which hang the life of the beautiful defendant. (Boston American photo.)

Air Marshal to Be Balbo's New Title

Rome, July 23 (AP)—When Air Minister Italo Balbo leaves for the trip to America he may be given a new title, that of marshal.

On Premier Mussolini's suggestion the title of marshal, by the cabinet council, and it was believed certain it was about to be conferred upon Benito Balbo.

The police are Chief Edward J. Connelley, Jr., Inspector James Murphy, Foreman Thomas Dolan and Detectives Richard J. Griffin and William Murray. To their stories the state attaches great importance.

delicately balanced scales which give life as prize of death as penalty. Hugh A. Crezz, picturesque prosecutor for the state, is largely depending.

Long Drawn Medical Battle Looms Ahead

A ruggedly built man, Judge Frederick W. Foulke, of judicious, outdoor complexion, square jawed, and a piercing impersonal gaze which leaves no doubt that while the eyes may only see the surface, the mind sees through to whatever lies beneath. Most of his scrutiny of a witness is during the short time the witness is being sworn. The solemn unchangeable expression of his countenance is a mute warning of any who may have come with the idea that a murder trial should afford amusement.

There is a likelihood of the trial lasting another three weeks. Asst. Dist. Atty. Charles Green, hopes the state case will be in by Saturday, but is not at all sure because of following McMahon the medical experts will go on.

And expert medical testimony is usually long-drawn-out in its colorful and hysterical thrashing. The defense will probably require from a week to 10 days in the stand and a day and a half probably will be taken up by closing arguments and the court charge.

If any further evidence were required to prove this an extraordinary case it is the daily presence of Dr. George Burgess McGrath, the week will be called by the state. Dr. William Boone, summer of the state's expert, is also on the stand. Dr. Steven D. Smith, the toxicologist upon whose report of chemical analysis of the victim's organs the state presented its case with the investigation ultimately failing Jessie, there is no sign.

Jessie Halted Cross-
Examination of Child

Witness by witness the trial moves forward its dramatic and emotional qualities never for a moment held aside. Her closest woman friend, called to testify against Jessie collapsing her grim visaged brother-in-law, picturing the quarrel over McMahon in the house of death. The victim's

Crezz Depends Largely on "Kiss-Tell" McMahon

Always toward Edward J. McMahon, the Plymouth reserve patrolman who confessed a love affair with Jessie, the course of the state's case was shaped.

It was McMahon, according to a child, who used to visit the Costello home during the absence of Bill Costello—McMahon who pulled Jessie on his lap—McMahon upon whom Jessie called day and night at a hospital, feeding the fruit, with delicacies—McMahon who was the cause of strife between her and her husband.

Upon his story and its interpretation by the jury, as it may weigh down one side or the other the state's case will depend.

KIDDIES MERRY ON SAIL

"Mr. Clark wants the door of the room closed for the press," Judge Foulke said. "We may open it a little later."

Griffin admitted he said nothing to Mrs. Costello's counsel about the McMahon statement and said he gave all his information to the district attorney.

He had in mind that this man was murdered, he said, and didn't feel that she should talk about his information to everyone.

Q—You were looking for facts to support the Commonwealth's theory? A—If there were any that I could find.

Q—If you found any would you have told the district attorney? A—No, I would tell the district attorney.

In his presidential line-and-staff conference, McMahon was quoted as having said he saw Jessie hugging and kissing the doctor on one occasion. Later it was said he repudiated this statement.

Lowell, July 2—With Lowell Textile mill operating on somewhat the old time capacity and employing hundreds of new workers, the employees have taken first steps to organize in the Lowell Textile workers' organization.

Nearly 300 Lowell textile workers crowded Trades Hall hall in Merrimack at Saturday afternoon to attend the first meeting which was called by John P. Hanley, former president of the Lowell Textile council and new secretary-treasurer of the Lowell Textile workers' organization.

Organizer Hanley outlined the aims of the I. T. W. and pointed out the necessity for all mill workers to unite that they might be able to co-operate with the operating union in the working out of the new "40-hour system" and urged the cotton textile workers to organize.

He pointed out the complications which are likely to arise in the working out of the new "40-hour system" and urged the cotton textile workers to organize.

Mr. Hanley announced that as soon as the woolen workers have begun to unite, the cotton textile workers will also be organized.

American Coupons Make Happiness at Paragon

Taking advantage of the coupons printed in the Boston American, thousands of happy, smiling children and their no less happy mothers left Roxbury today by Nantasket boats for Paragon Park, where they enjoyed an outing arranged for their pleasure.

Four streams of the Nantasket Line were filled with children, laughing, shouting children, while their mothers watched over their charges with smiling eyes.

Coupons printed in the Boston American were the media of exchange, when accompanied by a very nominal charge, for all the attractions at Paragon Park, as well as for the boat ride.

Eleven big amusement attractions and seven rides were provided for in the coupons and the children at once took advantage of these arrangements. It was one of the happiest cruises that had gathered on the boats or at Paragon Park this season. August Vacations Necessitate Difficult Choice Between Summer and Fall Clothes

By Margaret Matson

IT WILL be a matter of a few days now before the entire complexion of the shops will have changed. Numerous ones have already undergone the transformation. It's only July by the calendar, but it's fall according to fashion, and instead of the quantities of white shirt dresses, there are exciting displays of dark ones.

And August is the most popular month for vacationing.

It's the month when hundreds of people will rush out to the mountains, the seashore, possibly to Europe and of course to the World's Fair. It's the month, too, when in practically every place in the country—and in Europe as well—one can expect the warmest weather.

The Difficulty

And then the difficulty. Vacationers are eager for new things, especially becoming. And yet they must be cool clothes, too.

So may we make a few suggestions, on the part of the "School of Clothes." We suggest that—unless one is definitely going into the back woods to hibernate for a season—that there be included in the vacation wardrobe at least one extremely well-chosen, good-looking fall costume.

It might be a traveling outfit, or an afternoon costume, or very probably an evening, or satin, or velvet, fall—one of the new fabrics.

Light Clothes

Naturally, it will be necessary, unless the vacation trip is to keep one in the city all the time, that there be a majority of summer clothes—linens, cottons, silks. The linen could be dark under white or bright color, the cottons are unlimited in their scope and degree of formality, and the silks might be the cravest silks—the "fifties" will be the fashion, the sheers, and the light trapes.

Knitted and crocheted things pack so easily and fit into so many occasions, it is always wise to include them.

Then, as a vacation, over a summer frock is one clever means of making the season transition.

One must be careful, though, that the formality of the one harmonizes with the other.

Easy to Make
Chocolate
Drinks

By MARTHA LEE

From Martha Lee, Monday Morning Broad Over Nation WAAR

ARE YOU summering in camp or cottage far afield from the bustle of man, and perhaps vaguely missing, among other city conveniences, the corner soda fountain where you usually find unfailing refreshments for Summer thirst?

You can really bring the soda fountain right to your camp or cottage if you will keep in your refrigerator a supply of ready-to-use chocolate syrup. Nine out of ten people order chocolate drinks, I'm told.

Chocolate Syrup

Stir over direct heat a half cup of breakfast cocoa and a half cup of water until smooth.

Stir in 2 cups of sugar and a dash of salt until dissolved. Boil 2 minutes.

Add 2 cups of milk and 1 cup of vanilla. Pour at once in a glass jar and seal with cork in ice chest. This will make one pint.

In ten minutes you can make a big jar of this rich, creamy chocolate syrup. It will keep for a month, except for Summer drinks—about a cup or so to a glass. Sometimes you will use it for ice cream, or a cottage pudding sauce. So there, there is any real reason of its expiring, you have eaten it and made more.

The Marry-Go-Round; 'Quitting'

By HELEN ROWLAND

HILARE BELLOC is quoted by Resident Digest in a hilariously witty article on "The Art of Being a Woman."

But Mr. Belloc does not specialize on the fine art of being a woman. Yet, there are at least ninety-nine ways in which a man can annoy, irritate, and bore any woman to tears.

Helen Rowland: If the girl of the moment is getting on your nerves, just observe some of the following rules, and you can detach her clinging arms in one evening.

Always call her up on the last moment for a date, so that she'll know that you've tried to get two or three other girls and that she is just an afterthought.

Stay at home after your telephone call.

Never ask her what she'd like to do on a night she'd like to spend the evening just telling her what YOU'D decide to do and where you're taking her.

Keep her waiting until she has replaced the makeup three or four times and has just about decided that she's disappointed in you.

Never bother to get out of the car—just sit there and let the motor-borne shrieking until the neighbors all look out to see where the fire is.

When sitting opposite her at dinner always look over her head or straight through a transparent medium composed of her face.

Impress her sternly and firmly with the fact that, while you have had a lot of women in your life you never intend to marry.

On the way back home always try to call her and craft a few casual kisses before she gets out of the car.

When you give good-night, tell her magnificently that you'll call her up again, sometime.

I could give you dozens more of these pointers, but if you'll follow these few carefully you can get rid of almost ANY woman.

Dark Eye Circles

Question: Will you please tell me what to do to cure dark circles around the eyes. I am considered good-looking and am in good health. I've tried creams and lotions to make them disappear but without effect. When I lie down to go to sleep, I always refuse because of the ugly circles. It was only last March that they appeared. I should be ever so grateful to you if you will tell me what to do about them—Miss A. C. Quincy, Answer: Boston.

SPEED AND PEP KEYNOTES OF STAGE BILL

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

A. L. HEAD PUTS FINGER ON WALTERS

Pres. Harridge of the American League points at Walters, just completing a home run second Sunday Fenway fray. The twin bill went to the Boston Sox, 6-2 and 7-2. With the league head watching, the Sox put their best foot forward. "Kinda" showed off for the boss.

Surprising Red Hose Twice Smear Chisox

By DAVID F. EGAN

"These," said Mr. Edward Hawley, the hose-pucker who never bets on his own horses, "are not the Red Sox, and I will give you 3-8 that they are not."

"You will give me eight to five 4 of what," said Mr. Hurley, then he went up to Hockingham for the past month, and though he helped them swell, he got a sweater for a tout and went very broke indeed.

As a matter of fact, it is said on good authority that the horse-follower followed the horses with a brown on the last day of the meeting.

"No," said he, a sneer appearing over his usually handsome countenance. "You have the right of anything I give me to my five dollars."

'Pure' Cameramen Make Real Money

CAN YOU MAKE GOOD MONEY AS A PHOTOGRAPHER?

Beginning today, the Boston Herald offers a chance for amateur photographers to make real money.

The American we pay five dollars for every picture of unusual sport action accepted for publication.

"Yes," says Mr. Hurley, "and yes, indeed. You may have the seven little talors, and a celluloid collar which has been handed down from generation to generation in the Hurley family, and so has great intrinsic value. You may be sure."

"Well," says T. not to be outdone by Hurley, "the hills of which I spoke of came with the district regularly on or about the first of each every month, so I shall wear my five hills instead your seven little talors and celluloid collar, for I dearly need such a slindup collar as a celluloid one."

It is an old saying that 20,000 francs can buy a house. And it is an old saying that 25,000 francs would keep their families in a comfortable home for the rest of their lives.

EXCESSES, IN CHECKERS, REELEASE Puncturing of 'Alcohol Boom' Needed to Restore Confidence

By R. C. FORBES

Exaggerated importance is accorded the respite in stocks and commodities.

Had there been no crazy boom in "chubby stocks" and no "fat" in the unsational confidence in them, the recession through the general stock market would have been a little alarm.

When average stock quotations were, last month, at the same level as they were in the early part of the year, the general view was that securities had a "fat" market.

When commodity prices had climbed to the point where they were now, the general view was that commodities had a "fat" market.

But it is not permitted to go to sleep.

As a matter of fact, the puncturing of the "alcohol boom" was greatly needed, because the longer it lasted, the more it would have been a source of confusion to the general public.

Similarly, a warning of petty speculation in commodities was needed to bring them back to the level of reality.

Everybody will be better off, if the general view is that commodities are not so "fat" as they were.

Notable though improvement has been, indulgence in excesses could prove mischievous.

Therefore, it is well that speculative excesses have been punished.

New Wheat Plan for World Trade Ready in London

London, July 24 (AP)—A new offer by which importing countries in the exporting countries have been prepared today for submitting to the exporters at a joint meeting with the importers tomorrow.

The importers met this morning and afterwards some representative expressed confidence in their ability to make a satisfactory arrangement with the exporters.

The Americans were determined to bring the two groups of countries together, and they characterized the position as "just what we have experienced at every turn of the wheel."

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chief American delegate, said that in the event of an agreement, some sort of "wheat council" with a residence in London, might be established to keep check on how the wheat was being kept on how it was working out.

Long Grain Holiday of Proposals

Washington, July 24 (AP)—While awaiting news of the commodity markets, striking at the industry's program for an orderly increase in domestic price levels, have brought dramatic developments which include a formal coming agreement by President Roosevelt and a nationwide strike hocking Monday night.

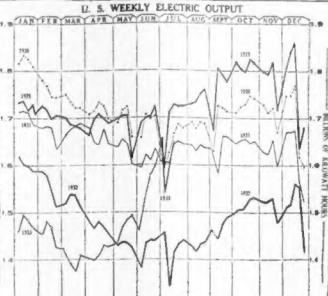

Widepread public alarm at the downward plunge of stocks and commodities was seen as a major reason for the President's sudden decision to call for a "wheat council."

Electric Output Gains

Continued increases in the nation's electric output are being reported by New England leadership agencies indicated. In the last report, the output in New England was 26 per cent larger than a year ago, while for the nation as a whole the gain was 14.1 per cent.

For the 11th successive week output of electricity for the week ended July 13 was greater than a year ago. Starting with an increase of 0.5 per cent for the week ended May 5, each succeeding week has shown a larger gain over the corresponding week of 1932.

The Middle Atlantic in the week ended July 13 showed an increase in electricity output of 12.2 per cent from last year, against an increase of 11.3 per cent for week ended July 5, while New England, taken alone, was 26 per cent above a year ago as compared with an increase of 22.2 per cent in preceding week.

Period of Quiet Should Be Next Move in Market

By SPECTATOR

Wall Street starts the new week with its chin still up ready to take it again. The firm of liquidation, however, shows signs of turning their backs on the market. It should be pretty much over, and liquidation from now on will be largely from those who rode the storm but, as yet, with shaking in their shoes, a period of quiet stabilization, with time to think things over, should be next on the cards.

But this certainly is not the signal for throwing up the sponge on the belief all is over.

New York, July 24—The relation of the government to the stock market is most interesting and important.

The administration has set itself in a position to do nothing but to improve the public as a whole through the depreciation of the dollar.

The result has been extraordinarily rapid. People have rushed to turn dollar into "equities," but their money could lose more of its purchasing power. So stocks went up as the market went down as parts of the same process.

Senator Thomas speaks truly when he says, "the country is in a state of confusion." It is a repetition of what happened in the case of the Wednesday market.

Whether we like it or not, the market is a very important factor, both physiologically and otherwise, and the government of Oklahoma are unconsciously doing it. Nothing more strongly affects the movements of stock quotations.

LATE OPENING MOVE FAVORABLE IN STATE ST.

Relief for Brokers' Forces Is Expected Through Action

By FRANK H. MELOON

Financial Editor, Boston American

Decision to relieve the strain on brokerage houses by opening the stock exchanges at noon today, two hours later than usual, will be a favor in over-pressed market.

The trading in Boston, New York and other markets is so heavy that it is impossible to get a clear picture of the market until the afternoon.

"Let's Look at the Records"

OPEN LETTER TO ATTORNEY GENERAL

JOSEPH E. WARNER:

As chief of the State's legal department and advisor to the forthcoming legislative investigation of crime, and the police department of Boston you will doubtless require in your work the records of the real racket kings of Boston.

Governor Ely was not successful in getting from the police department the names of the real leaders of the underworld. The list that was composed mostly of small fry and petty offenders.

To help you in your investigation the Boston Evening American will present for your study each day the record of a man whose name stands high in the list of public enemies and whose name has been withheld from the governor by the police department.

The record of each of these men is available at police headquarters.

NUMBER 6

After this man was paroled from State Prison a few years ago he settled down to a life of respectability in such a manner as to minimize the chances of being caught again. Before that all too brief period of confinement the subject had appeared in court 17 times.

He had the usual career of the group whose names appear strangely unfamiliar to Boston police officials. He summed off in 1917 and up to 1921 had been arrested for drinking, gambling, assault and battery, rape, robbery and assault with a knife.

There, and prisoner, Mr. Warner, and the usual number of discharges and dismissals, etc. Filled a few small holes in the State Prison record, was transferred upon him to the Superior Court.

With a record like that he probably rated the job he now holds—underworld controller of the city who is clothed with professions and executive offices.

CHURCH SUMMER CENTERS CLOSE

BY JULY 25 IN SUMMER MEET

Berlin, July 24 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler's Nazi government had coordinated German Party activities today as a result of general church elections, and started church reorganization from the ground up.

About 600,000 elders and members of governing bodies were chosen. They will name provincial synod delegates, who will select delegates to a national synod for nominating a Reichsbishop, which has been the aim of the Nazis.

Incomplete returns indicated the failure of resistance, but the church expects progress from the state.

COOK-COOKS

 Characters and Charles Edward Mitchell, banker, fooled jurors by wearing patched shirt, baggy suit and stained fedora at his trial. Which probably explains why the defendant was so willing to compromise recent income tax differences with Charlie Chaplin.

It would be a kind thing for everybody to start sending cast off clothing to millionaires.

BEG PARDON?

(Interview)
 "It seems inconceivable to me that politicians should be involved in legislative fact-ets," Senator Cuyler of New York.

In times like these, a beleaguered world hungers for some word of guidance. One clear voice rings out: the confidant—the voice of Tom Mannix, editor of The City Annoyers, who declared editorially:

Now is the time for all city employees to put their shoulders to the grindstone and their noses to the wheel. Vacation is over. Snap out of it! Get together behind the head of your department and overlapping assessments can we guarantee that this nation shall grasp the new horizon by the horns and make sure that the flood gates of property shall go marching hand in hand down the sands of time with the machinery of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

And let that be a lesson to others, too.

A fact in re to the modern femme.

That has been noticed by a few:

The wider her eyes at 8 p. m. The broader her stories at 2.

"As I see it," says Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "a booster's just a knacker who's speaking in the first person."

FRISBY SUBMITS BASIC CODE

WASHINGTON MONUMENT.—Congressman Horace Frisby today advanced a basic code for politicians. A large crowd, which had gathered when two beer trucks collided at a busy intersection, gave there after cheer as Frisby carried the case to the people. In outlining his plan for co-operation with the domestic recovery administration, Frisby sketched his basic code. (And also sketched a musical) on a billiard table to amuse the children. "The basic code for politicians," declared Frisby, "will be to sleep 10 hours out of 24, take two hours for lunch, and establish close, as the minimum campaign contribution."

Adam Scollins' Journal

Lays long, I in my bed and my dove in her bed, and when she wakes we gaze in hillingsgate, one word leading to another until she tings an ungaine, and then an alpher, but when I reach for the telephone she cry out, thinking, poor wretch, that I am about to tinge it at her, which was, in truth, base and groundless calumny, as I have purpose but to call the exchange girl and whisper sweet nothings.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

I'm sorry but we don't want no roughnecks in our organization.

Now for the regular election of officers.

HOMRA-HAMRA.

From the Evening Post: "The marriage of Miss Adeline Hamra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hamra, of Chicago, Ill., and of Mrs. S. A. Hamra, was announced Sunday morning at Trinity Episcopal Church."

THIMBLE THEATRE, starring POPEYE

THE EXPRESSMAN JUST NOW LEFT A PACKAGE FOR YOU DID HE?

WONDER WHAT'S IN IT?

WHAT YA SUSPOSE IS IN IT?

SUPPIN GOES "DUMP" WHEN I SHAKES IT—YA SUSPOSE IT'S A PRESENT?

MAYBE I BETTER NOT OPEN IT TILL NEXT CHRISTMAS

OPEN IT, DON'T BE SILLY!

THEY'S SUPPIN' ALIVE IN THIS BOX!

WELL, BLOW ME DOWN!!

POPEYE

BRINGING UP FATHER (FOLLOW JIGGS AND MAGGIE IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

I'LL JUST RUN DOWN AN SEE DINTY'S DOCTOR AN' HAVE HIM LOOK ME OVER BEFORE WE GO AWAY ON OUR VACATION!

DOC—LOOK ME OVER AN' DON'T SEND ME A BILL UNTIL I GOT BACK FROM ME VACATION. I WANT TO ENJOY MESELF.

YES—I'D ADVISE YOU TO COME HERE AFTER YOUR VACATION—THAT IS WHEN PEOPLE NEED AN EXAMINATION!

OPEN YOUR MOUTH WIDEN THAT'S IT—NOW SAY "AH!"

AH—

POLLY AND HER PALS

WHY CAN'T WE HAVE A COW?

BECAUSE WE CAN'T AFFORD IT!

MOO—OOO

YOUR PULLET-PINCHIN' PARTY HAD ITS FUNNY SIDE SON.

BUT CATTLE RUSTLIN' HAIN'T SO HUMOROUS!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

DO YOU THINK MAYBE SOMEBODY WILL COME FOR THE MONEY TODAY?

WELL I HOPE SO—I KNOW HOW TERRIBLY WORRIED THE OWNER OF THE MONEY MUST BE.

EVERYBODY AD IN THE NEWSPAPER LOST IT AND FOUND MONEY IS BOLD TO SEE IT.

GEE, I HOPE THEY DO.

EVER SINCE I FOUND THAT POCKET-BOOK FULL OF MONEY—I KEEP WORRYIN' 'BOUT IT—THREE HUNDRED AN SIXTY-TWO DOLLARS IS AN AWFUL LOT OF MONEY TO LOSE.

IT'S FUNNY—HOW MONEY MAKES YOU WORRY—JUST 'CAUSE I HAPPENED TO FIND A POCKET BOOK FULL OF MONEY I KEEP THINKIN' AN' WORRYIN' 'BOUT IT ALL THE TIME! KIN YOU IMAGINE WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF I LOST IT?

I GUESS TO GO DAFKY OR SOMETHING.

BARNEY GOOGLE

LOOKIT, WID—DE BHOYS GOT DIS HERE, CHAMPEN—TO COME HERE AN' LEARN YOUSE A COULDA LESSON IN SCIENTIFIK RASSLIN'—WHEN YA MEET DAT MULE BULLY YOUSE CAN TOIN HIM INSIDE OUT—

HE'S GONNA SHOW ME SUPPIN, MEY—? WOT IS IT?

CHUST A MINUT—PUS—DERE ISS MOOCH I SHOULD TOLD YOUSE—A HAFK—NULSON—NOT IT ISS—UN A BODY ZLAM—UN BER HEAD-LOCK—

DAT'S SUPPIN YOUSE CAN LEARN ME—DE HEAD-LOCK!

DAT'S ALL I WANT TO KNOW—

QUICK!! RUN IN DE BACK ROOM AN' GIT ME A MONKEY-WRENCH—DE GOLD IN DAT GUY'S TOOTS IS WORT' A 'FORTUNE—

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK (FOLLOW TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

SEE, COLONEL STAGS, I'M SORRY SPUD WAS SENT OUT WITH CAPTAIN DUMONT AND THE BARBERS TO CAPTURE THE CASABAN.

IT WAS BY EMPEROR KARLOS ORDER THAT HE WAS DETAINED TO GO!

HOW DOES COLONEL STAGS HAPPEN TO BE HERE IN AFRICA WITH EMPEROR KARLOS ARMY MISS ALBERTA? HE BELONGS SOMEWHERE ELSE AND SOMEWHERE HE LOOKS TO BAD.

HE WAS A RIGHT TO BE SLD, TIM—?

ONCE HE TOLD ME HOW HE CAME TO BE HERE—I TELL YOU HIS STORY—TELL YOU HIS STORY TO KEEP IT A SECRET?

YOU CAN TRUST ME—

"WELL, SEVERAL YEARS AGO COL STAGS WAS IN COMMAND OF A BRITISH REGIMENT IN INDIA."

COLONEL, I WANT YOU TO BELIEVE PERSONALLY THREE VITAL DEPARTMENTS TO GENERAL BUCKETWELLS AT 1510 N. CALIFORNIA UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES ALLOW HIM TO GET INTO REBEL HANDS."

I SHALL DELIVER THEM SAFELY, GENERAL HARNETT—

KRAZY KAT

I MADE AN AWFUL MISTAKE WHEN I SMASHED THAT ICE CREAM BRICK THAT WAS ON KRAZY'S DOORSTEP—THINKING IT WAS A REAL BRICK.

SO I'LL SQUARE MYSELF BY PUTTING ANOTHER KRAZY ICE CREAM BRICK ON HIS DOORSTEP.

HOW THAT DEAR KAT WILL BE SURPRISED TO FIND THAT FINE ICE CREAM BRICK.

LIKE YOUR ICE KRAMM BRICK—DAH-LIN'?

I DO YOU?

A "Cheerful" Giver
